

When My Mama Reads to Me

Author: Julie Elkus
Illustrator: Annie Ruth
Reading for Life Inc.

This book is excellent for shared reading because it has many colorful pictures and a variety of activities that allow the parent and child to talk about what's happening on each page.

your child. Cut cardboard into page-size pieces. Glue pictures or photos of your child's favorite places or familiar people to each piece of cardboard. Punch a hole in each cardboard piece and attach them together with yarn or string to make a book. Read the book with your child over and over. Change or add to the pictures occasionally.

After reading When My Mama Reads to Me, construct a simple book with

Make up other places to go on the zooming machine and ask the child to finish the sentence.

Use several of the simple one-syllable words in the book to rhyme with the preschooler. The adult should say a word, and then the child, alternating as long as there are ideas for words. Some of the easiest rhyming words are sea, plane, car and wave.

